

Where Did My Banana Go?

A Short Story for Intermediate Readers
(Primary School Level)

Before I went to school, I put a purple calculator, a yellow pencil, a green sharpener, a red rubber and two bananas in my bag.

I jumped on the bus and went to school.

First, I went to the playground and played sports and did exercise.

After, I went to my first class and had Maths.

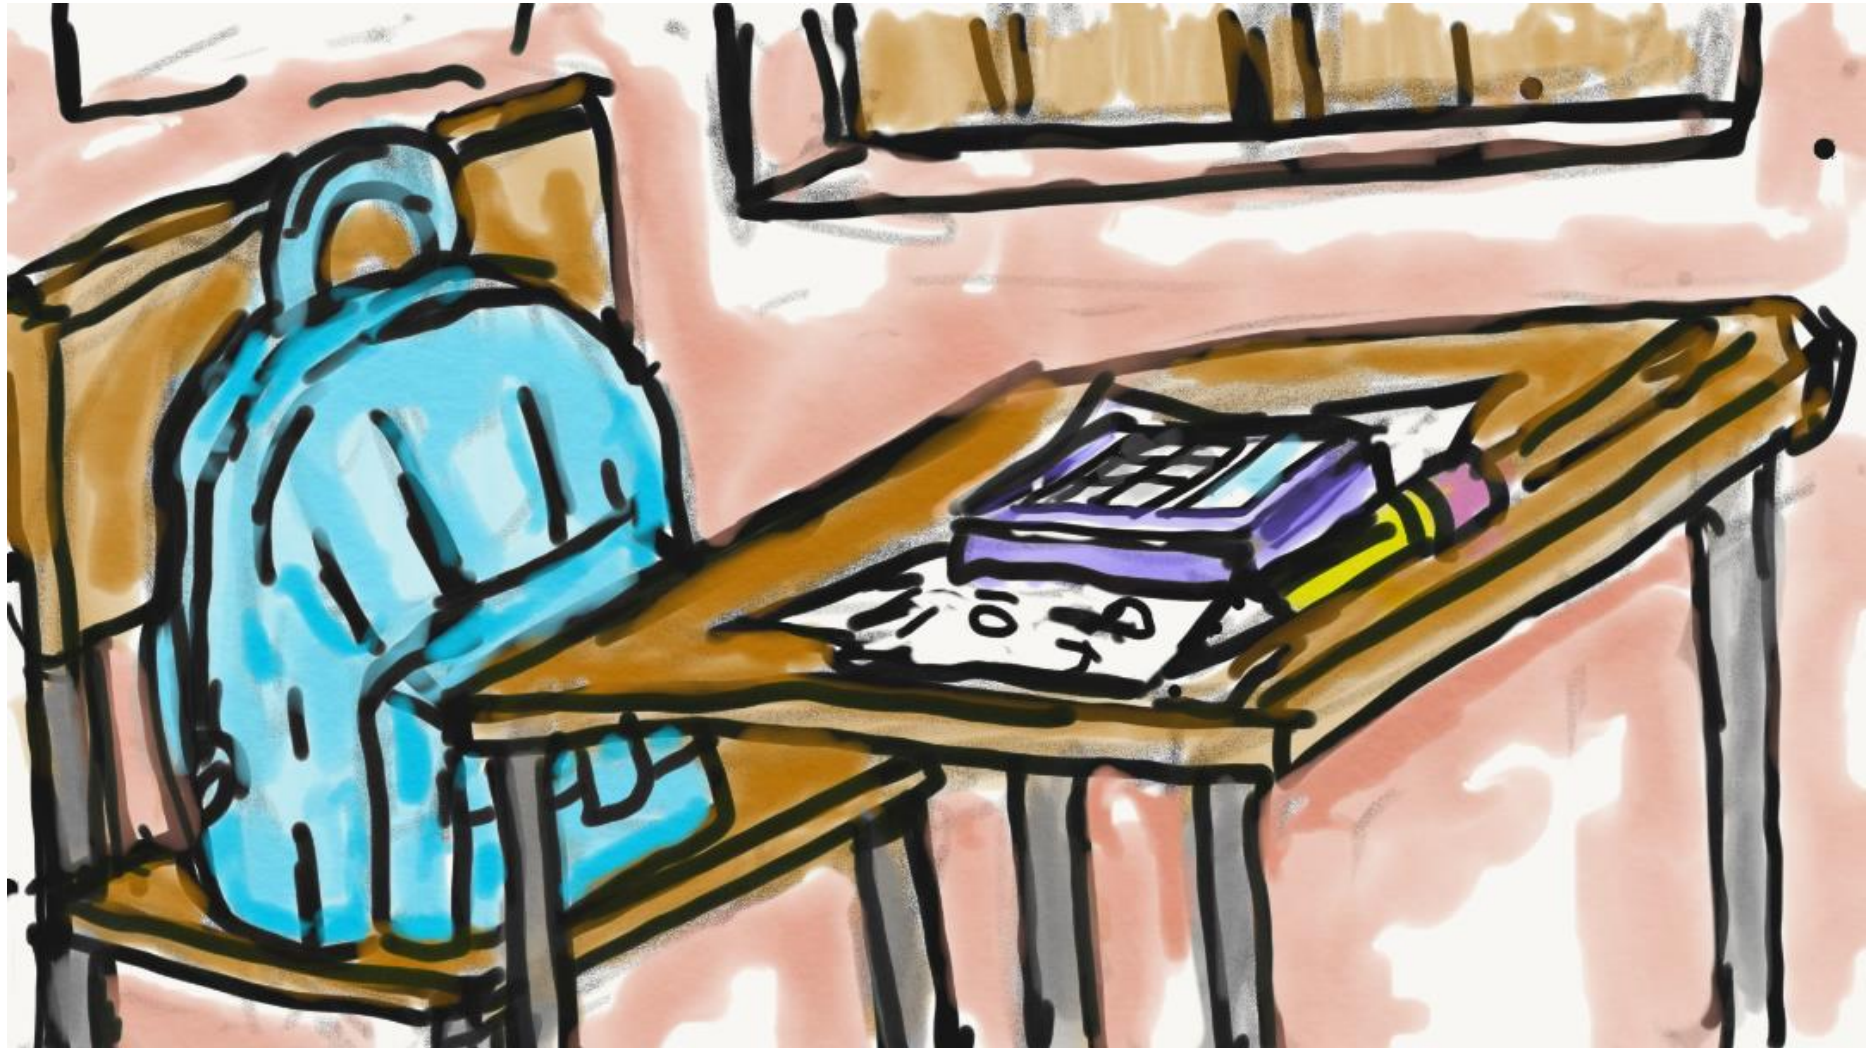

After Maths, I went to my second class and had English.

After English, I went to the canteen and had lunch. But, I only had one banana! “Where did my other banana go?!”

“Hmmm, did it fall out in the playground?”

“Hmmm, did it fall out in the Maths class?”

“Hmmm, did it fall out in the English class?”

After school, I jumped on the bus. “Maybe I lost the banana.”
I got off the bus and then the bus driver said...

“Is this your banana? It fell out your bag before you got off.”

“Oh, thank you!”

I was very happy. Now I know where the banana went!

The end

If you liked this story, please visit us at eleclassroom.com for more stories!

